1. Program Introduction

1.1 Basic Situation

1.1.1 Brief Introduction

The Degree Education Programs, founded in 2008, is sponsored by the Ministry of Commerce of People's Republic of China using the foreign aid of the Chinese government. The program is designed to foster the high-end, inter-disciplinary talent working in the applied fields of politics, economy and trade, foreign affairs, agriculture, science, education, culture, health, energy, transportation, and public administration, building intellectual capacity and facilitating the economic and social development of the recipient countries. This program offers one-year and two-year master programs as well as three-year doctoral programs. These programs provide financial support to governmental officials, research fellows, and senior managerial personnel to come to China to receive the master or doctor education which are fully conducted in English. Admission requirements include a bachelor's degree and relevant working experiences so as to understand the courses timely and sufficiently, and decent physical conditions, essential for the high-compact curriculum needed for the degrees.

The program plays a more and more important role in the economic and trade cooperation and development between China and the home countries of the students, and is highly valued by the government of the host country.

Under the support of Ministry of Commerce of China, China Agricultural University started the Master of Management Program on "Rural Development and Management Studies" (two-year program). The aim of this program is to equip the students with the international perspectives and advanced approaches for development research, management, and practices. This program has played a unique role in adjustment of agricultural structure, reform of rural industrial structure, rural revitalization, poverty alleviation and sustainable utilization of resources in China through its education, research, and practice activities.

During 2015-2023, the program has been implemented in nine batches, recruiting a total of 213 students from 38 developing countries in Asia, Africa, North America, South America, Oceania, and other regions. Currently, 154 students have graduated. After completing their studies and returning to their home countries, these students have been employed by governments, universities, research institutions, and non-profit organizations, becoming key personnel and creating outstanding work performance and positive social impact.

College of International Development and Global Agriculture (CIDGA), is a comprehensive platform of China Agricultural University that brings together multidisciplinary fields around international development and global agriculture based on decades of the university's explorations on both bring-in and going-out development researches and talents fostering. The college has pioneered a unique approach that integrates macro-level global development governance with micro-level rural governance, and promotes policy consultation alongside academic research. This distinctive feature has generated significant policy, social, and academic impacts both domestically and internationally.

The college has established a rich academic exchange platform and developed diverse approaches to education. It offers a variety of academic lectures covering multiple themes and fields, such as the "New Development Knowledge", the "Global Governance and Development Forum" lecture series, the China International Development Research Network public forum, and the "Rural Forum for China" lecture series. Particularly, the "New Development Knowledge" lecture series aims to invite renowned scholars in development research, disseminators of development knowledge, as well as cutting-edge policymakers and practitioners, to jointly identify new opportunities arising from the transformation of the international development system. It also strives to depict the narratives and actions of emerging countries in their overseas development efforts, thereby enriching and expanding the existing knowledge map of global development.

The college has always regarded serving the country's major development strategies as its mission, actively responding to the "One Belt and One Road" Initiative, undertaking multiple projects for national ministries and commissions as well as the Beijing Municipality's international student programs. The college is committed to nurturing talents for the world. Through years of continuous exploration and effort, it has achieved commendable results in educational aid work, making significant contributions to cultivating talents with an understanding of China, promoting the construction of the "One Belt and One Road," and fostering a community with a shared future for mankind.

(2) Main Course Introduction

Course Code (73123402) : Advanced Development Studies (2 credits)

The idea of "development" is the product of colonial rule over the years. This course systematically summarizes the important issues in the field of development, these issues were deeply rooted in the social sciences' exploration of the essence of modern industrial capitalism. However, since the collapse of the global colonial system, the new elite began to push a new concept of development. In the following decades, many policymakers and scholars also pay a close attention to the theory and practice of development. Thus, the issue of development gradually formed its own distinctive features, and continues to these days. This course aims to clarify the footprint of the theory and practice of development in the past fifty years by teaching and discussion, and refine the experience and lessons, so as to better serve the future development research work.

Course Code (73123403): Social Research Methods (2 credits)

This course introduces the qualitative and quantitative design methods used in the study of development issues in the field of social sciences. By classroom teaching and group discussions, students will master the research strategies related to qualitative and quantitative research, including know well about methodology basis of qualitative and quantitative research methods, get familiar with the main points of the random and non-random sampling (case selection) and how to carry on the questionnaire surveys, interviews, observations, and use participatory tools for research and evaluation. This course will make students learn the writing of the research proposal and a series of methods to analyze the data using SPSS software

Course Code (73123404): Planning and Management of Modern Regional Development (2 credits)

Based on the background of rural regional development and planning knowledge, deeply discuss the characteristics and application conditions of modern regional planning methods. In the background of context of China's rural areas and other developing countries, discuss the regional planning method suitable for developing countries. This course introduces the role of participatory approach in improving regional development planning, and analyzes the applicable methods of determining objectives and management projects.

Course Code (73123414): Public Management (2 credits)

Using the methods of participatory research, combining teaching and research, this course focuses on the problems of rural development and management. Students choose their own topics, find and read the relevant literature, complete a high level of literature review on the basis of constant discussion. In this process, this course will improve students' quality of analyzing and solving problems, and expand students' scope of knowledge about the rural development and management through mutual communication and discussion, deepen students' understanding of the subject of rural development and management. The teaching process emphasizes the interaction between teachers and students as well as the interactive learning process between students and students.

(3) Introduction to Elective Courses

Course Code (73123406): Public Policy and Analysis (2 credits)

Public Policy and Analysis is an important course in the field of rural development and management. It focuses on the following contents: The main frame and method of basic concepts of public policy (basic concept, academic schools), public policy system and the policy process (cycle), public policy analysis technique, the rural public policy and the special status, the main policy issues of development of China's rural areas, and public policy research design and organization.

The course teaching closely combines with the major theoretical and practical issues in the development and management of rural areas. The teaching content fully embodies the combination of ideas, theories, methods and practical cases.

Course Code (74123402): Community-based Natural Resource Management (3 credits)

The course aims to promote the reserve team's capacity building of China's rural development research and practice of reserve by the review and analysis of the concept and methods of participatory learning and cases of Community-based Natural Resource Management. At the same time, the course will contribute to narrowing the gap between the current higher education and the reality of China's rural development.

The main content of the course: Introduces the definition and main features of community based natural resource management, learn how to do this in the real situation. The course will lead students to identify the main challenges that the approach is facing: How the research work can promote researchers and the local people's understanding of the social life's complexity, and promote the formation of action foundation to solve relevant problems.

Course Code (94123408): Development Models of China (1.5 credits)

This course introduces China's reform and development path starting from rural and agricultural areas, expanding to urban and industrial areas, government led development models, advantages in political systems, how to eliminate absolute poverty, cooperation in foreign agriculture and poverty reduction, industrial development, urbanization, and special economic zone construction. It comprehensively analyzes and explains how China has become the world's second largest economy in just forty years, reducing poverty in 770 million in rural areas. This course is dedicated to telling the story of China, promoting confidence in the path, theory, system, and culture of socialism with Chinese characteristics.

(4) Teaching Staff

The teachers for international students are carefully selected and arranged by the college. These teachers all have the experience of education in foreign countries, are fluent in teaching in English, and have associate professor or professor title. They are experienced in development research and practices.

1.3.2 Teaching Methods

Our college adopts the participatory teaching method, focus on the interaction between teachers and students. In addition to the teacher lectures, we will arrange the discussion and communication between teachers and students, and organize group discussions to share knowledge and insights among students. In addition to the classroom teaching, our college invites the world's top scholars to deliver lectures about development for every two weeks in average. Each lecture will arrange an interactive session, so that students can ask questions and scholars will answer. We also arrange tea break, so that students and the speakers will have a chance for further contact.

We often use case studies in our college, collect the key practices and cases of the world, and analyze and discuss with the students to enable students to better understand the complexity of the development problems in real world, and learn to rethink the purpose and way of development with the developmental idea and view.

Course assignments will often require students to make PPT presentations on the subject in class. On the one hand, students can better absorb the contents of the classroom, on the other hand, to promote students to think deeply of what they learn with the understanding of the development problem in reality. It can also train students' thinking and communication ability.

In order to let the international students understand the current situation of China's rural areas, we will arrange field trips in countryside for international students, so that they can communicate with Chinese farmers, to analyze the needs and problems of the farmers with the knowledge they learn in classes, to understand the development activities and practices in China.

Our college also arranges a variety of study tours for the students, one is to understand the approaches and achievements of China's agriculture and rural development, the other is to visit the historical city of China, to enable the students to learn more about the customs and cultures in different places in China.
