Sponsored by the

under the

SINGAPORE COOPERATION PROGRAMME TRAINING AWARD

to be conducted by the

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF EDUCATION

Singapore Cooperation Programme

Singapore has provided technical assistance to other developing countries since the 1960s. As a country whose only resource is its people, Singapore believes that human resource development is vital for economic and social progress. Singapore itself has benefited from training provided by other countries and international organisations.

In 1992, the Singapore Cooperation Programme (SCP) was established to bring together under one framework the various technical assistance programmes offered by Singapore. Through the SCP, the range and number of training programmes were increased to share Singapore's development experience with other developing countries.

To date, Singapore has sponsored training courses and study visits for over 117,000 officials from more than 170 countries. The SCP is managed by the Technical Cooperation Directorate of the Singapore Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

National Institute of Education

The National Institute of Education (NIE) was established in July 1991 as an autonomous institute of the Nanyang Technological University (NTU). It is the sole teacher education institute in Singapore conducting all levels of teacher education, school leadership training, postgraduate studies in education and educational research.

NIE is organised into Programme Offices with 12 supporting Academic Groups. The Office of Teacher Education administers the initial teacher preparation programmes, leading to diploma, degree and postgraduate diploma qualifications, to equip student teachers with the values, skills and knowledge to lead in the service of learners. The Office of Graduate Studies and Professional Learning besides offering master's and doctoral degrees, also delivers in-service and leadership programmes to enhance the career pathways of serving teachers and educators.

Course Objectives

The Leaders in Education Programme (LEP) is one of NIE's flagship programmes. It provides participants with the essential knowledge, skills and values of school leadership in the 21st century and seeks to empower educators with cutting-edge knowledge in the journey of innovation and change in schools. The LEP aims to:

- Prepare and develop school leaders using innovative approaches that address the broader roles and responsibilities of leaders and the purposes of schooling;
- Produce leaders who work to build student-centered schools with the capacity for high performance and continuous improvement towards that end;
- Encourage leaders to take a system-wide, "big picture" perspective, so that school programmes are aligned with the larger goals of national development;
- Address the challenges in managing people from different education settings in the context of a globalized world;
- Develop leaders who work with the strengths of their organisations, find new ways of doing things, and achieve breakthroughs in the delivery of knowledge.
